Sojourn

My floppy shoes felt cold and chaffed my feet as I pulled them over my pussy cat face socks. "Do, do, do, do. Lot's to do today," I hum to myself after pulling my "Misfit for Hire" shirt over my head and headed out of stately Misfit Manor and down Wilder Street in my beat-up but oh-so-dill early model Nova. Yeah, sure it ain't as honkin' as President Shogun's stretch Caddy, but it gets me from point A to point B without falling off Avagadro's number.

Keeping the windows down in February is a pretty stupid trick, but when your tailpipe leaks fumes into your back seat you have to put up with icicles hangin' from your nose.

The traffic was crowded at the Hunt's Falls Bridge, but that's okay. It gave me a chance to finish up my Life Science homework. "Those profs'll take anything," I mused as I stuffed my paramecium sketch into the glove box for safe keeping.

Tearing into the Riverside lot, I scream expletives at the donut-storage unit we like to call a campus cop who was making sure no evil student dared park where the profs park which was where students used to park before those @$!l profs stole even more of the oh-too-few spaces they give us to park. "By stealing our parking spaces, they give out more tickets. By giving out more tickets, they earn more money. By earning more money, they get more trips to Dunkin Donuts," my friend Mick once explained it to me.

Then I saw it. Right on the island under the stupid tree. It was an open space and only slightly illegal. I was golden.

"Hell, it beats fighting for a seat on the shuttle bus and besides," I thought, "who has all day to waste waiting for the thing."

I ran past a couple of wimpy weathermen on my way past Costello Gym. OK, so not every Weatherman is wimpy. But with spokesmen like Dick Albert and Al Caprellian, who can take any of them seriously.

As I finally make my way to Southwick and up the stairs that lead to the Registrar's office I muse, "Cool, I only had to dodge three speeding cars in the parking lots to get here today."

I walked into the Registrar's office needing to finalize my plans for graduation. "Oh, if they say I have to stay another semester because I told my bowling teacher he was a jerk --I'll kill the lot of them." But for the first time in five years, everything comes off without a hitch.

"Five years," I thought. "Five long *&%@#! years."

The years slip by as I reminisce while walking up University Ave and into Astros. It's suprising how easily it is to slip into the fog as you suck back a couple of cold ones.

I was just another snot-nosed clown when I went through Orientation. I was following my guide through South Campus and then I noticed something that would make me realize that college would be nothing like High School. There, amid the shady trees and flowing grass, by the frisbee players and guitar-toters were two girls of slightly plump proportions cuddling as the summer sun shone down brightly on their pimply faces. Matter of fact, that was the first time I used the phrase,

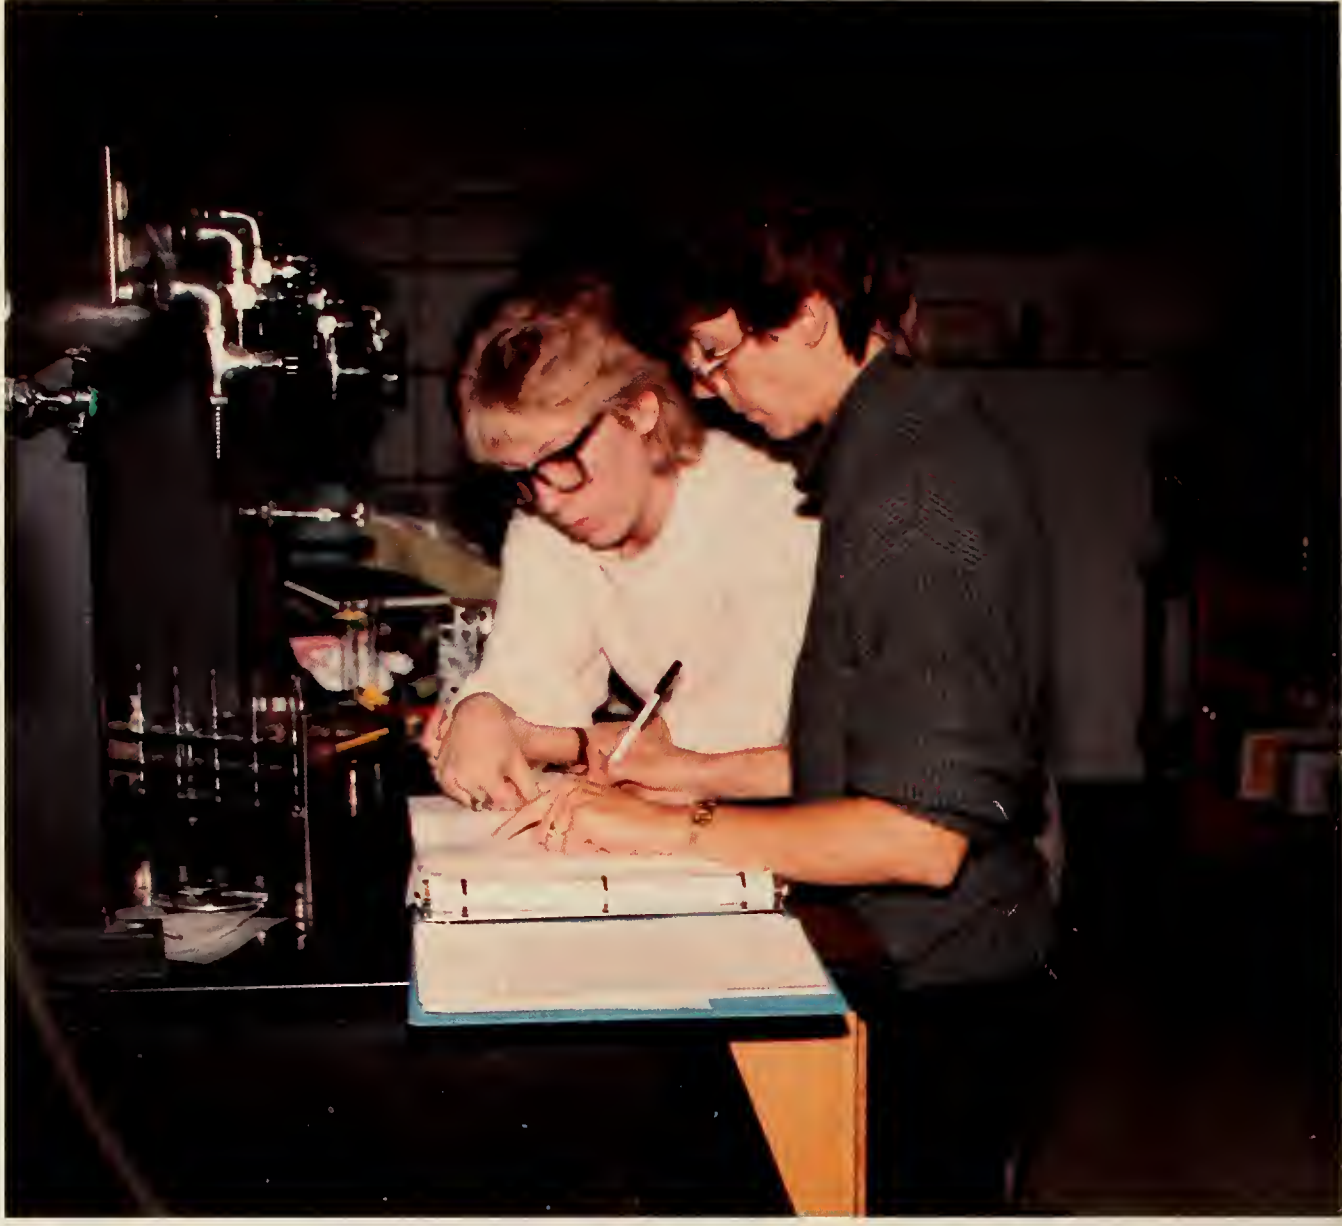

"Urghkph!!"

I was a good student for a while, until I joined my fraternity that is. When I moved into the Frat house my grades went down but, my belt size went up. That was the first semester I got a .8 cum. Oh boy was that ever fun. The amount of beer I consumed that semester would have made Otis from Mayberry green with envy.

As I got older, I started combing my six hairs differently so as to attract the fifteen available chicks on campus. I joined a bunch of clubs and even started playing baseball because I wanted to get the most out of college. I was comics editor at the Connector, President of the Society for Cartoon Engineers, short stop for the JV Chiefs, and founder of my favorite bunch o' guys --the University Misfits.

So here I sit at Astros with an empty pitcher of Bud and a gut full of memories. So much has happened since I was a freshman. I met Barry Holt. I survived my Integral Calc class. I read Faust. I even became a superhero and faught all kinds of baddies.

What's left. I'm on my way into the real world. But am I ready to leave college behind? Those DK parties were great! The U.Lowell Players were almost as zany a group as the WJUL crew. Oh yeah, I remember those concerts in Cumrock, the flood and the Mill Fire, and all those soggy french fries in the South Cafe. Am I ready to put all those experiences behind me?

At that moment, Krang --my bestest buddy-- bursts through the door and says, "Hey Bonzo, they're about to tow your car." I run out of Astros and past the arcade thinking, "Yeah, I can't wait to get the hell out of here."

Robert J. Peirent retired as coordinator of the freshman chemistry laboratories, after serving his alma mater for nearly forty years.

Professor Peirent attended Lowell Textile Institute for his undergraduate degree. While obtaining his masters, he taught chemistry at Lowell Technological Institute. By 1963, he had been promoted to associate professor, and in 1970, to Professor of Chemistry.

During WWII he was in the army-airforce as a pilot and aviation engineer. He is recognized as an expert in textile chemistry and dying. Throughout his teaching career, Professor Peirent also worked with Natick laboratories in these fields.

The Professor has dedicated his life to chemistry and has shown us how truly fascinating this subject is. Teaching and coordinating Freshman Chemistry Laboratories has put the professor in close contact with every student who has ever taken Chemistry 84.123 and 84.124.

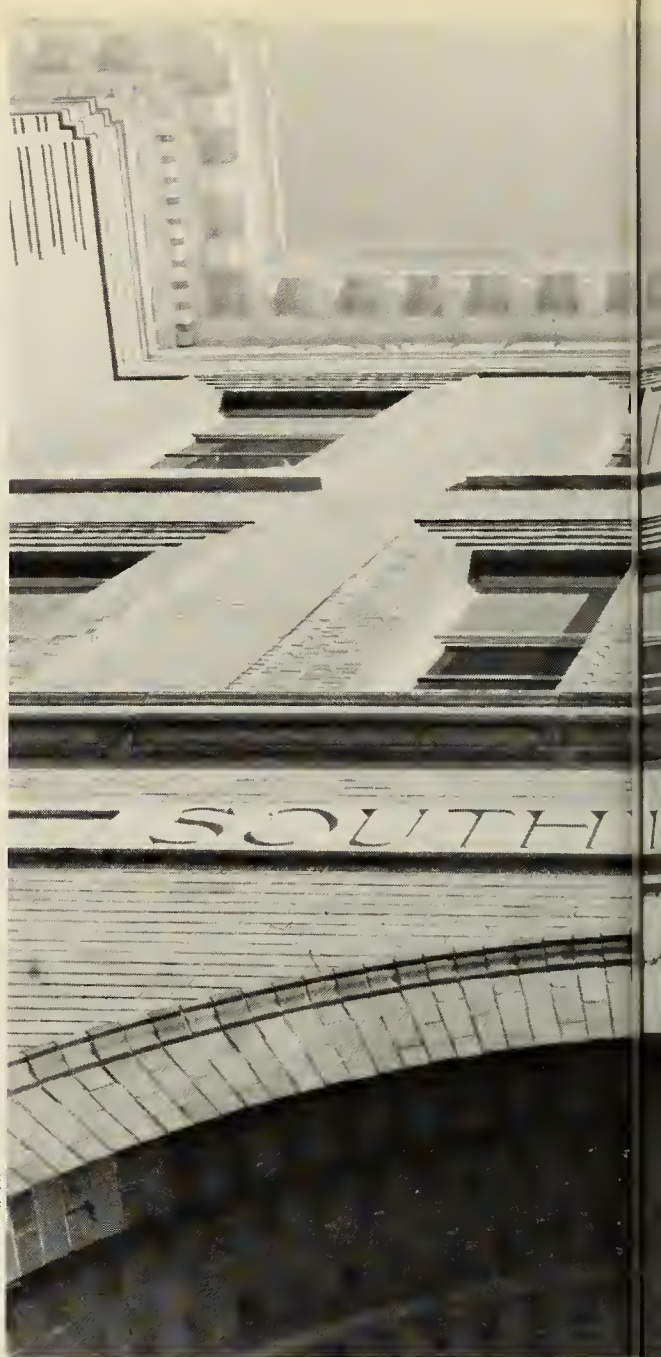

He could always be seen moving about the labs at a quick clip, or telling you to wear your safety glasses. His assistants know him as personable, hard working, energetic, sincere, and the kind of boss they'd love to be. He always had time to teach you something new, and he wanted you to enjoy learning it.

As he retires, the professor intends to spend more time with his family, and to enjoy photography, one of his hobbies. We will miss him, and all the knowledge he has brought to us.

Clubs

THIS IS WHERE

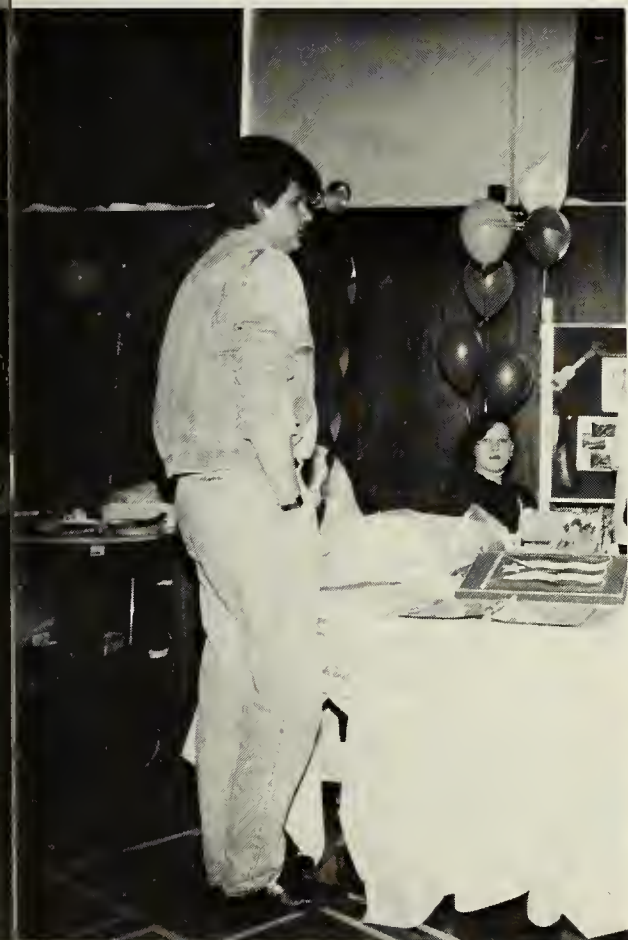

the Fun Starts

The University of Lowell offers a magnitude of activities from which the student may choose to become active in. The clubs and organizations represented in SOJOURN '88 are a sample of the diversity of the activities available to the students at the University of Lowell.

The activities which the student participates in are an invaluable part of their undergraduate experiences encountered at the University. Through this participation the student creates a personal remembrance of his or her college years.

Activities Commission

The Activities Commission is a branch of the Student Government Association which plans, produces and oversees all student and club activities on campus. The A.C. is comprised of four At-Large members and three members from each class of the University, headed by a director, all which are elected by the student body. This past year A.C. has been responsible for world famous magicians, hypnotists, and mimes along with local T.V. personalities and disc jockies. Major concerts have included Face to Face, the Del Fuegos, and The Fools. We are also responsible for the Rebirth of Spring Carnival.

Director); (back) Karen Schofield, Tony Libro (Clubs Chairperson); Not Shown -Chris Alibozek (Transportation and Special Events Director).

The Alpine Club

The Alpine Club seeks to expose club members to outdoors. Club activities include camping, hiking, rock-climbing, biking, ice climbing, kayaking, and canoeing. Students form their own trips with the aid of officers.

The American Meteorology Society

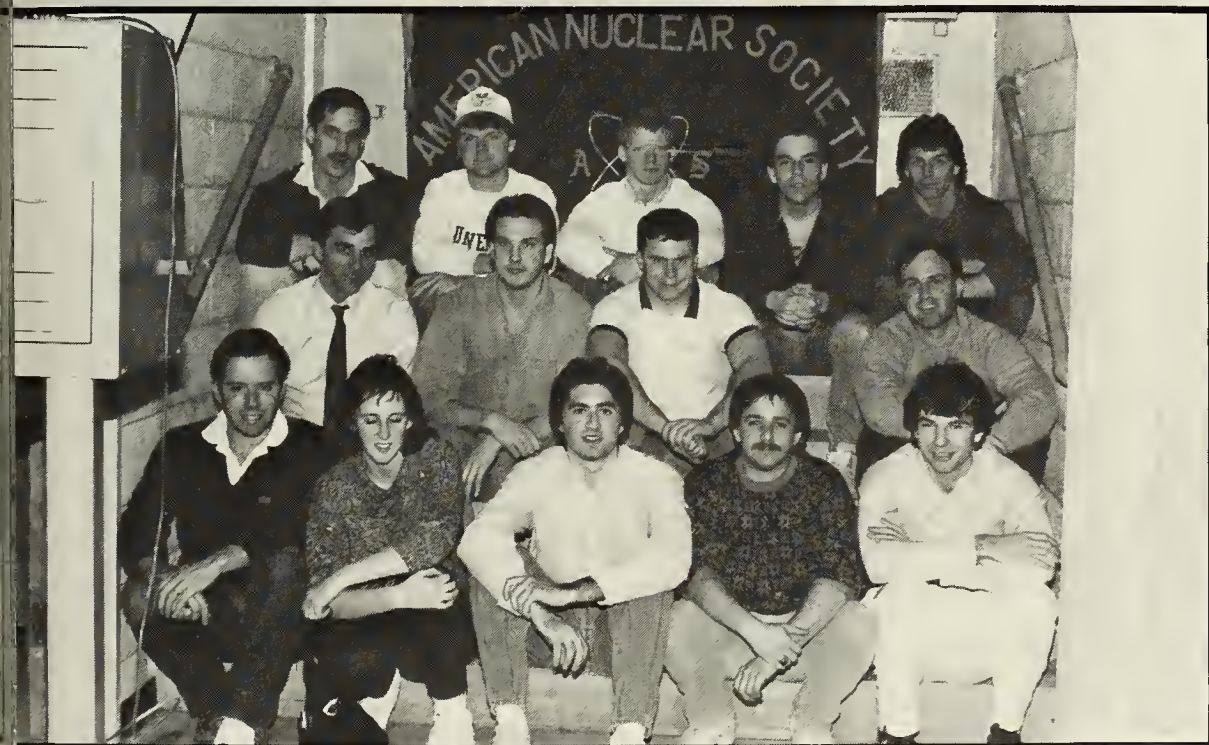

Peter Swinarski

The American Meteorology Society is an active organization at the University of Lowell. Some of the activities include fundraisers, field trips and seminars pertaining to meteorology, and also the annual hike up Mount Washington.

Club Advisor: Dr. Frank Colby, President: Ronald Morales, Vice President: Mike Henry, Secretary/Treasurer: Scott Spratt, Members: C. Shepherd, J. Ouellet, P. Marousos, B. Mentzer, T. Roache, M. Coffey, B. Gonsalves, B. Conon, P. Smith, J. Petrowicz, W. Carey, J. Wegiel, M. Dickinson, M. Bernett, M. Haddad, B. Treanor, J. Ripley, P. Devita, G. Bixby, C. Meuse, J. Boyle, J. Charbonneau, C. Millman, M. Faria, B. Gugenheim, D. Caron.

The American Nuclear Society

Paula Ming

The American Nuclear Society is an organization formed to promote the peaceful uses of Nuclear Energy. We sponsor trips to student and National Conferences from Maryland to Los Angeles. Other trips include Seabrook Tours, Three-Mile Island, and Brookhaven National Lab on Long Island, NY. Our Largest contribution to the University is an annual Energy Day exhibition in Cumnock Hall. Local energy companies are invited to speak to University students along with high school students from the greater Lowell Area. Several alternative sources of energy are demonstrated and discussed.

American Society of Civil Engineers

The American Society of Civil Engineers (ASCE), being a chapter of the professional society, gives the students a start in their professional careers. This is accomplished by meeting guest speakers at regular meetings, having occasional field trips, and competing in an annual concrete canoe race at the University of Maine against other local student chapters. The University of Lowell ASCE not only broadens our perspectives in Civil Engineering, but it can be fun too.

Peter Swinarski

President: Paul Bedigian, Vice-President: Thanh Dickerson, Secretary: Karen Schofield, Treasurer: Kevin Wikar

American Society of Mechanical Engineers

The purpose of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers is to promote the advancement of knowledge of the theories and practices in the field of Mechanical Engineering. This branch provides the opportunity for the student to become acquainted with the personnel and activities of the club, as well as to promote a professional consciousness and fellowship.

Shahid Haq

President: Stephen Fodge, Vice-President: Carol Johnston, Secretary: Mike Collins, Treasurer: Ken Dolan, Information Services Coordinator: John Nolin, Faculty Advisor: Joseph Ustinowich

American Society of Quality Control

Paula Ming

American Society of Quality Control has been the world wide leader in the development, promotion and application of Quality Technologies for the private, government and academic sectors. The student chapter of ASQC has been very active by educative students about the need for Quality Management. The Society has invited many guest speakers, sponsored field trips, and socials.

President: Michelle Walsh, Vice-President: Craig Duhamel, Secretary & Public Relations: Chandrashekar Prabhu, Advisor: Paul Kales

Student Athletic Trainers

Bill Freeman

The University of Lowell Student Athletic Trainers Club involves about 50 students who primarily provide ATC supervised coverage for 28 varsity sports. The club sponsors inservices,, guest lectures, and first aid and cpr certification programs. NATA student representation is active and involves scholarship award winners. The student athletic trainers have participated in Spring Carnival and club social events.

The Biology Club

Instituted in 1975 to enrich the development in more than just the classroom, the Biology Club participates in various activities such as field collecting, canoe trips, campus speakers, tutors, and many more.

Shahid Haq

President: James Smith, Vice-President: Greig Whitney, Treasurer: Mike Kelliher, Secretary: Jamil Malik

The Black Student Union

The purpose of the Black Student Union is three-fold: 1) to serve as the voice of the minority student body, 2) to assist those minorities in need of academic aid by informing them of the offered services, and 3) to hopefully enrich the academic, social and cultural abilities and knowledge of each member by providing opportunities of such kind to it's members. (Any student may be a member.)

Bill Freeman

President: Yulanda Henry, Vice-President: Kim Williams, Secretary: Sherley Charles, Treasurer: Maxine Rousseau, Social/Cultural Chairman: Dave Thompson

Members: Monica Brown, Marlowe Bryant, Liza Burgie, Willie Burks, Jefferson Challenger, Edward Crevecoeur, Mark Cunningham, Dianna Dawes, Marsh Freeman, Yonnette Lacet, Roy Laroude, Barbara Najjar, Lawrence Newton, Carolyn Pina, Anna Poindexter, Veronica Poindexter, Ivette Reyes, Jada Simmons, Jonathan Talley, Wilma Lisa Walker, Tyron Williams.

Campus Ambassadors

David Zeoli

The purpose of this University club is to provide for students an opportunity to investigate the life of Jesus Christ and the Christian faith as presented in the Bible, aid in the discipleship to Christ, and to assist in meeting spiritual, emotional, physical and intellectual needs of the student body of the University.

Omega Chi Epsilon

Paula Ming

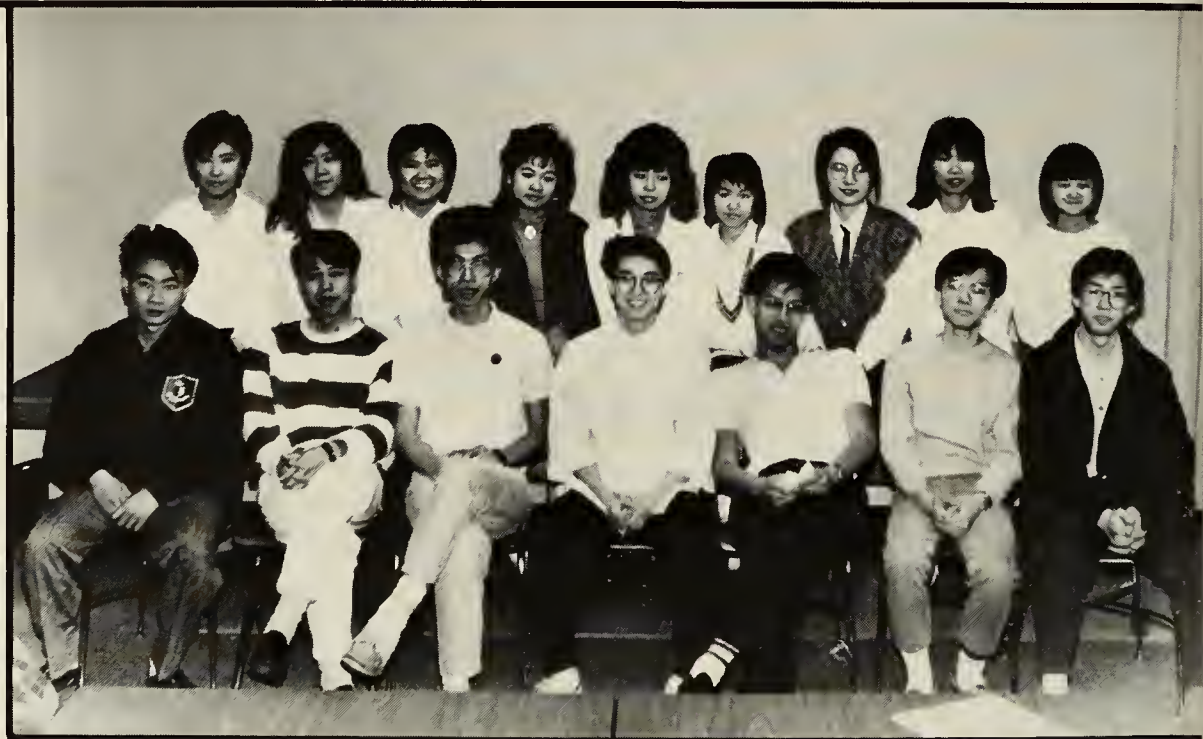

As the local representative of the National Chemical Engineering Honor Society, the Alpha Gamma Chapter promotes high scholarship, encourages original investigation in chemical engineering, and recognizes the traits of character, integrity, and leadership. Activities include career guidance to high school students, tutorial services to chemical engineering students, and organized tours to chemical plants.

Chinese Student Circle

The purpose of this Circle is to render help to all Chinese students and to promote understanding and friendship among the members at the University of Lowell community.

Paula Ming

Community Service Organization

Last Semester the founding members decided to do something about the rampant apathy problem on campus. Seeing a void in the community in which we reside, our club is dedicated to doing volunteer work and community service. Hopefully, we can achieve two goals: 1) to improve the image of the University and 2) to improve some people less fortunate than ourselves through active civic responsibility. This is a new club but so far we have implemented and completed an American Cancer Society Jail-a-thon. Planned activities include volunteer work with Red Cross Blood Drive, ARC Association of Retarded Citizens, March of Dimes Walk-a-thon and renovations at the House of Hope.

The Connector

Jim Lavallee

Jim Lavallee

Jim Lavallee

Jim Lavallee

Jim Lavallee

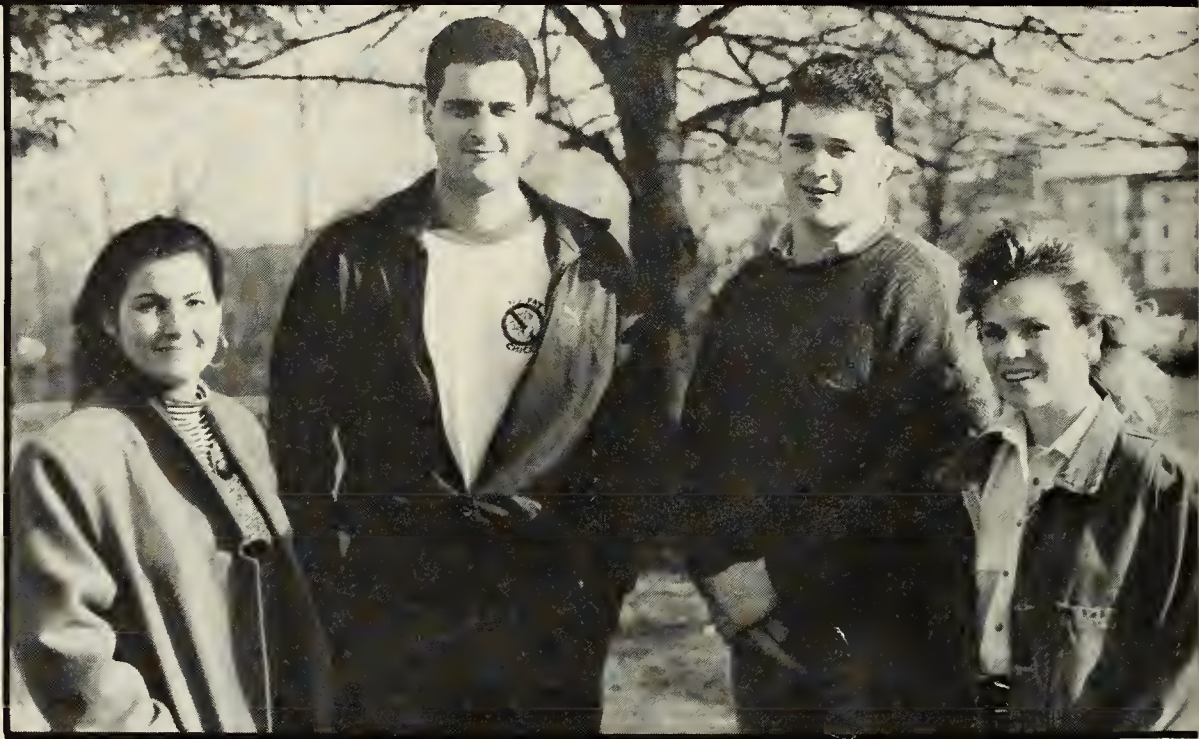

The Connector is the University's student newspaper. It is produced by a versatile group of writers, artists, photographers, and behind-the-scene staffers who enjoy the weekly challenge of publishing a paper. In addition to reporting campus happenings and mishappenings, the Connector reviews movies, theater and music as well as publishes pertinent student information and publicizes upcoming events. Besides the practical journalistic experience, the Connector provides an opportunity for students to make a valuable contribution to the ULowell community.

As shown here, Connector people are dedicated sorts who continue to stand up for your right to have naked cats on the comics page: Britt Akerblom, Peter Anton, Chris Atwood, Peter Bernard, Valarie Castora, Sharon Cogdill, Ravi Deecee, Randy Edgar, Dan Foley, Rob Foore, Barry Holt, Charlie Hook, Patricia Janice, Chas Kelly, Tom Kershaw, Jim Lavallee, Dee Legalos, Andrew MacLean, Chuck Mahaleris, Chris Malenfant, E.E. Electrical Engineering Honor Society

Eta Kappa Nu (H.K.N.) is the international Electrical Engineering Honor Society with over 150 chapters in the U.S., the United Kingdom, and Greece. To be eligible for induction, the student's scholastic standing must be in the upper quarter of the junior class and the upper third of the senior class in Electrical Engineering. Tutoring is available to electrical engineering students by members in the H.K.N. Lounge on the fourth floor of Ball Hall.

Peter Swinarski

President: James F. Bockman, Vice-President: Martin R. Bodley, Vice-President: Wayne G. Chesley, Treasurer: Mamer S. Matta, Secretary: Jason C. Langley, Faculty Advisor: Prof. Robert J. Dirkman, Dept. Head: Dr. Sidney A. Bowhill

The Emergency Medical Technician Society

The Emergency Medical Technician Society provides 24 hour coverage on the University campus and events via voice pages tied into the Campus Police communication network. We offer CPR and First Aide courses to University staff and students during the school year.

Jim Lavalie

Engineering Honor Society

Bill Freeman

The Engineering Honor Society, Tau Beta Pi, Massachusetts Theta Chapter, honors junior and senior engineering students who rank in the top 1/8 or 1/5 of their respective classes and who have demonstrated a high degree of character through leadership and service activities. We also extend free tutorial services to engineering undergraduates and act as a coordinating body for other engineering student chapter activities.

The English Society

Jim Lavalle

The English Society is U.Lowell's sole outlet for creative writers and poets. Once a semester, the society releases a literary magazine overflowing with students' labors of love. Not only showcasing artwork and literature, the English Society holds Movie Days, Auctions, trips to the theatre, guest speakers and other significant undertakings prompted by the suggestions of the society's mentor, sage, and advisor...Arthur Friedman. Remember the immortal words of the great bard Shakespeare - "Join the English Society!"

Indian Students Association

Objective: To promote and interpret the culture and life of India on campus. We encourage members to participate more fully in the social and cultural life of the University's community and provide housing to incoming Indian students. For more information call ISA at 458-1258 or write ISA, ULowell Box 176 N-SIC, Lowell, MA 01854. Highlights: India Night, Deepavali, talk on Immigration & Visa problems, picnic, social get-togethers, cricket match & other sporting events as well as cultural events.

Bill Freeman

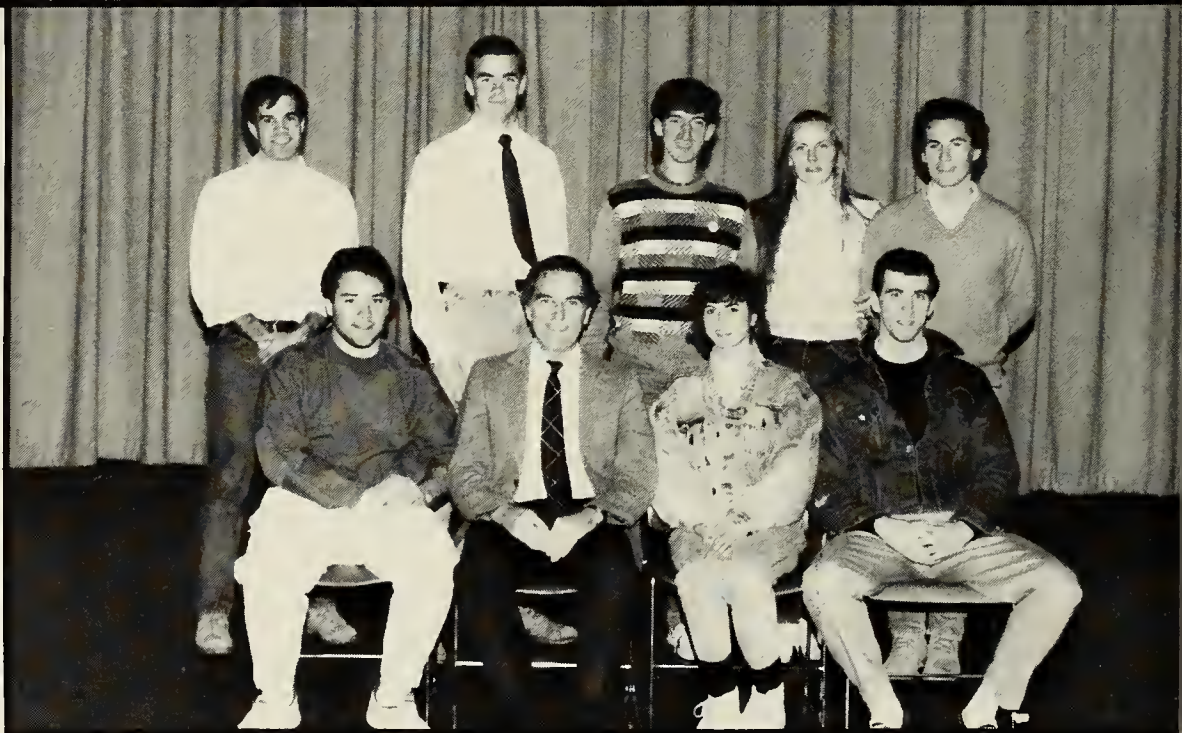

President: Ravi Deecee, Vice-President: Shweta Gupta, Secretary: Shanta Ram Punukollu, Treasurer: Chandrashekar Prabhu

International Relations

International Relations seeks to promote greater understanding of foreign countries and the politics involved in the formulation of their foreign policies. This club also provides students with the opportunity to exchange views about international politics, to meet with representatives of other nations and to improve debating, compromising and public speaking skills by representing the interests of various countries at different Model Simulations.

Peter Swiniarski

The Italian Club

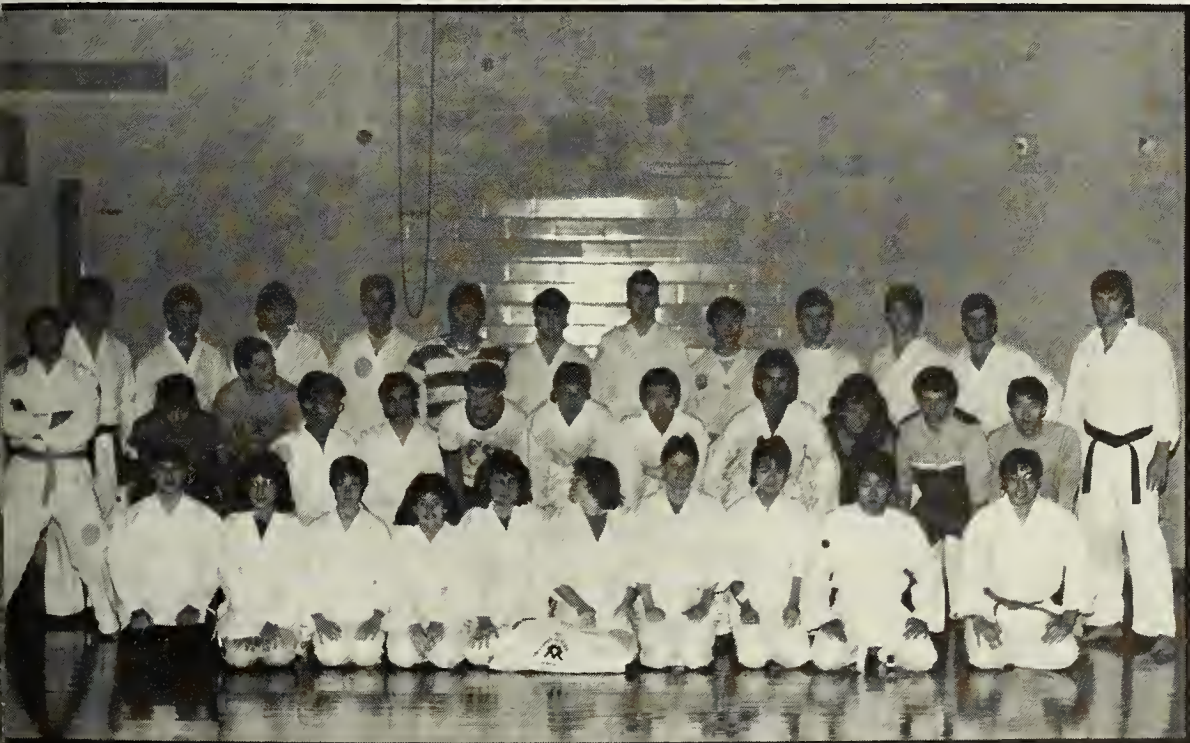

Peter Swinarski

The purpose of the Italian Club is to help the students understand and appreciate Italian Culture through films, operas, and lectures; to learn about Italian Economics, Politics, Art, Literature, Culinary Traditions and Customs, and also the Italian-American Experience.

The Karate Club

Bill Freeman

Shotokan Karate is offered to students as a gym class, a sport, and a club.

Students are able to learn the fundamentals of karate, technique and control, while earning credit. Karate is a safe, exciting, and competitive contact sport. As a club, karate holds fundraising events to support social get-togethers such as dances, banquets, and cookouts.

Overall, the Karate Club offers the opportunity to learn the art of karate, to compete in an exciting sport, and to meet new people while having fun at the same time.

President: Edwin Yeung, Vice-President: Adam Wasylyshyn, Treasurer: Takashi Ishikawa, Secretary: Maureen O'Connell, Public Relations: Wendy Johnson

Latin American Cultural Society Club

The purpose of this club is to further the understanding of the Spanish language and culture by meeting people from Latin America. It also provides a forum by which the members can converse in the Spanish language and gives an opportunity to those who wish to learn about a foreign language, its people, and culture.

Peter Swinarski

President: Marcos Peroza, Vice-President: Jaime Uviseva, Treasurer: Richard Cavez, Activities Coordinator: Juri Chavez, Student Coordinator: Mario Tamayo, Student Advisor: Prof. Hernandez, Faculty Advisor: Dr. Wayne Dudley

Marketing Club

The Marketing Club is an organization through which members can develop a professional consciousness and an insight into careers in Marketing and related professions. American Marketing Association is affiliated with the club and student memberships are obtainable. Field trips, guest speakers, fundraisers, Alumni night and promotion of Spring Carnival are just a few activities that have taken place during the 1987-1988 school year. We can be contacted through Club box 188N.

Music Educators National Conference Student Chapter #201

David Zeoli

Music Educators National Conference provides opportunities for its members to become acquainted with leaders in the music education profession as gained from participation in clinics, demonstration, discussions and performing groups planned by this chapter, MMEA and the MENC. Membership is open to any student of the University of Lowell interested in music education. Members will receive the official MENC publication, the Music Educators Journal and the MMFA publication, Music News. The MENC office is located in room 311 of Durgin Hall.

Highlights of the 1987-88 year were: A trip to see Godspell, Clinic on Bowing Techniques & the Suzuki method, Trip for MENC Conference at Boston Conservatory, Trip for MMEA State Conference in Springfield, Clinic on teaching Jazz in High School, Marching Band/ Drill Writing iehs, and Selling candy as a fundraiser.

Mechanical Engineering Honor Society

Shahid Haq

The purpose of this organization is to promote a closer union among those students majoring in Mechanical Engineering at Lowell who have achieved high scholastic standing, demonstrated leadership in campus activities, and possess outstanding character.

The Movie Division

The Movie Division of the Audio Visual Society is the greatest source of entertainment on campus. We show current hit films on a weekly basis in Cumnock Hall, plus the yearly movie marathon, two of the most popular activities at this school.

Jim Lavalle

North Student Information Center

The primary function of the North Campus Student Information Center is to serve as a resource to students concerning general university information. The voluntary staff is on hand to answer random questions regarding school policies, ticket sales to school events, academic concerns, etc. The office is the site of club mailboxes and also several typewriters for student use.

Peter Swiniarski

New England Association of Entrepreneurs

Paula Ming

The goal of NEAE is to develop Entrepreneurial skills in students and apply them by starting and running small businesses. Students will get practical experience vs. theory. Entrepreneurial Education also has been a key criteria of NEAE. Speakers are also invited by the NEAE (usually businessowners) to come and talk about the secret of success.

President: Chandrashekar Prabhu, Vice-President: Tony Pierce, Secretary: Lorena Garcia, Treasurer: Ravi Deece, Chief Advisor: Prof. Rudy Winston

Nurses Honor Society

This club nurtures closeness between nursing classes by allowing nursing students to meet together outside of the academic setting. In addition to monthly meetings the club organizes nursing department functions as well as outside social activities.

Null Set of Electrical Engineers

The Null Set of Electrical Engineers is a group of academically excellent E.E. students. We are not recognized by the University as a club, but deserve some recognition. We are the future engineers of America and proud of it.

Jim Lavalie

Photography Club

The Photography Club meets once a week in an attempt to offer those interested a chance to share ideas and experience with others interested in photography. The club has a darkroom in which both black and white as well as color developing can be done, and all black and white chemicals are supplied by the club. Anyone who joins with no past experience is quickly shown the basics and will be developing and printing their very own photos in no time. Seminars are held to further teach students the fine art of developing black and white plus color negatives and prints.

Photo club

Physical Therapy Club

Bill Freeman

The Physical Therapy Club coordinates activities for which all Physical Therapy students may be involved. These activities are designed to enhance the curriculum. Annual events include a benefit wheelchair basketball game, educational seminars, fund raisers, and outings. Every student in the Physical Therapy program is a member of the club.

Political Science Club

Peter Swiniarski

The primary objective of the Political Science Club is to increase the political consciousness of students at the University of Lowell. We believe this can be accomplished by encouraging students to participate in activities and events sponsored by the P.O. Club. The club allows individual political expression by advocating individual initiative in organizing events. This club arranges group trips to political debates/ events sponsored by the Center for International Affairs at Harvard University and M.I.T. and has also sponsored speakers at the university.

Pre-Law Society

The Pre-Law Society brings together students that have an interest in pursuing a law degree after having completed their degree requirements. The underlying theme of the society is the application process and successful acceptance to law school. The society meets bimonthly. Activities include trips to law schools. Practicing attorneys and current law school students are invited as speakers each semester.

Residential Directors

The Resident Director (RD) at the University of Lowell is a senior staff member in the Office of Residence life. It is the responsibility of the RD to supplement and complement the processes of formal education by enhancing the quality of life in the residence halls. The RD should enhance the educational milieu by creating a living environment that will optimize individual growth and foster community development. The RD should work in unison with the Residence Hall Staff and student leaders to create a residential environment conducive to the intellectual, psychological, moral, and cultural growth and maturation of a resident population.

RD's: Steve Daigle - Smith, Andy McLain - Bourgeois, John Sears - Leitch, Bob Valli - Crescent, and advisor Larry Siegal.

Leitch Hall Residential Advisors

Bill Freeman

Leitch RHA Staff: Kevin Andrews, Wes Kyle, Jeff Mortimer, Kevin Dugan, Eric Ramstrom, Ralph Thibodeau, Dennis Keogh, Tim Chicoine, Keith Reynolds, Darrell Deveau, Dave Stordy (ARD), and John Sears (RD).

The Resident Advisor (RA) at the University of Lowell is a paraprofessional staff member of the Office of Residential Life. It is the responsibility of the RA to supervise and manage a residential area within a building and to stimulate the growth and development of the residents. The RA is expected to promote an environment that is conducive to the personal, sleep, and study needs of his/her residents, and complement the goals of the University.

Specific responsibilities of the RA will greatly depend upon the individual needs of their particular floor and building. RAs are expected to demonstrate initiative, dependability, openness and a positive attitude. The RA is an official representative of the Dean of Students office and reports directly to the Resident Director of their assigned residence hall.

Bourgeois Hall Residential Advisors

Bill Freeman

Bourgeois RHA staff: Mark Perrone, Chris Qualters, Dave Whitford, Joe Kennedy, Marcus Vittello, Joel Sapp, Mike Pleteal, John Burke, Vinnie Florek, John Katizone, Eric Abelquist (ARD), and Andy McLain (RD).

Concordia Hall Residential Advisors

Crescent Building Residential Advisors

Crescent RHA staff: Bill Amiotte, Sue Orton, Mike Fallon, John Bibeau, and Bob Valli (RD).

Eames Hall Residential Advisors

Bill Freeman

Eames RHA staff: Sue Shields, Patty McKenna, Angela Swift, Karen Davis, and Lee Ann Scola.

Smith Hall Residential Advisors

Willie Burks

Smith RHA staff: Mike Burke, Ken Smith, Willie Burks, Tom Moore, and Steve Dagle (RD).

Fox Hall Residential Advisors

The Society For Advancement of Management

The Society for Advancement of Management's Campus Chapter Division is designed to promote professionalism and practical education to management students. The varied activities of SAM's Campus Chapter provides students with a head start in management training, developing skills in motivation, interpersonal relationships and communications.

President: Dante DeMichaelis, Vice-President: Dan Ziegler, Treasurer: Michael Ribaud, Secretary: Dan Johnson

Society of Environmental Scientists

Bill Freeman

Our purpose is to promote awareness of current issues in the fields of Environmental Science and Geology. We accomplish this by means of field trips to environmentally and geographically important sites, such as wastewater treatment plants, seashores and State Forests. Guest speakers, lecturing on their specialties or areas of current research, as well as professional environmentalists, are an integral part of our organization. These speakers give us an opportunity to listen to and discuss a broad range of topics that not only affect us today, but will also affect us in the future.

The Society of Manufacturing Engineers

The Society of Manufacturing Engineers (SME) is dedicated to the advancement of scientific knowledge in the field of manufacturing, as well as, providing the means and methods of applying this knowledge in practice and in education.

Sports Car Club

This club is orientated towards promoting interest in racing, better driving skills, and rallies to car shows and movies. An autocross is an all-out race against the clock through a slalom type course in a local parking lot. A rally is a longcoded course on regular roads at posted speed limits. The winner is determined by correctly answered questions and accurate mileage. To car shows and races, transportation may be provided along with discount rates. Movies are shown in the basement of the library in the winter season. We have a wide variety of events for people without sports cars. For upcoming events, check our bulletin board in the stairway, outside the North campus mailroom.

Chiefs Tackle a Tough Season

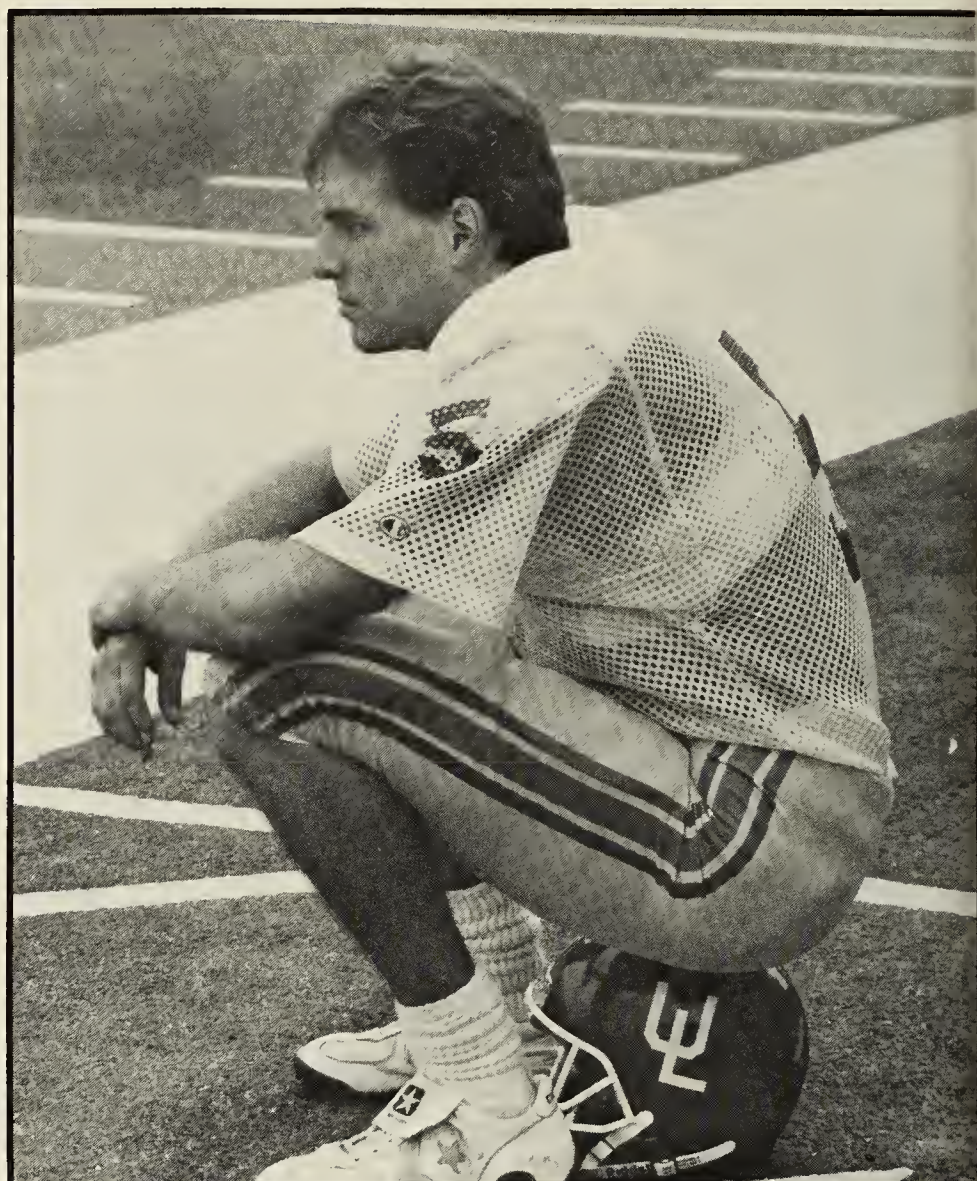

The University of Lowell Football team finished 4-4 this past season. The season was full of ups and downs as the scoreboard clearly demonstrates.

The Chiefs made their first season in the New England Football Conference an eventful one as they finished 2-2 in divisional play, good for fourth place in the NEFC North Division. ULowell was involved in the conference's first overtime game as they went into the last two weeks of the regular season with an opportunity for the divisional crown.

Second-year head coach Dennis Scannell was quick to point out that the progress of the offensive line had a lot to do with the Chiefs success. Their attack became more diversified with the emergence of sophomore quarterback Rob Aylward and freshman tackle Mike Favreau.

Across the line of scrimmage, the Chiefs had a young defense that got better as the year progressed. Classmates Darrel Davidow and Jim DiVita were two freshman tackles who were thrown to the wolves but didn't back down.

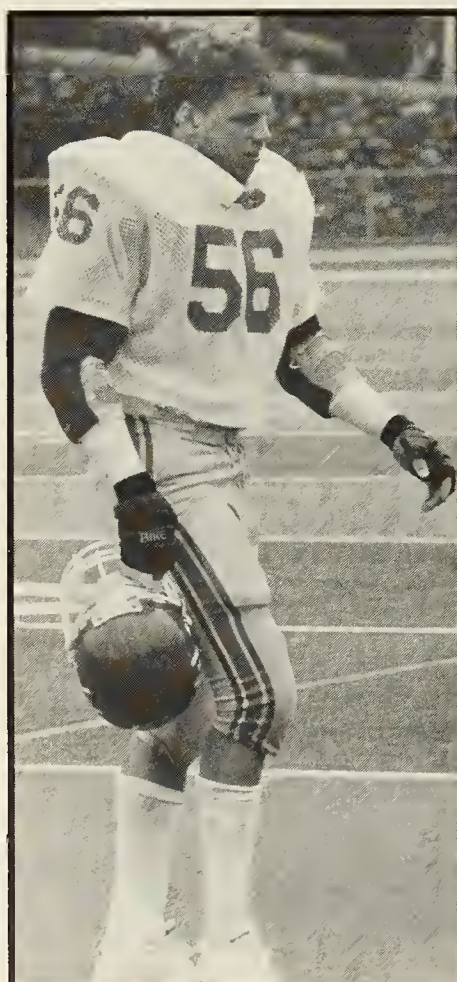

"We played a lot of young people this season and the future looks good." As outstanding young players John Schena and Tim Donohoe will be capable of succeeding "the great tri-captains," Mark Ciccarelli, Mickey Simmons, and Jeff Vecchi. If everyone continues to play as well as last season the team will be a threat in the NEFC next year.

Volleying to Victory

For the second consecutive year the Lady Chiefs finished their season on a highly successful note. The Chiefs were led by co-captains senior Julie Leonard and junior Susan MacDonald.

At the beginning of the season Head Coach Ann Leonard felt that the experience of the veterans and the talented newcomers would give the team a shot at surpassing or at least duplicating last season's record. Coach Leonard's predictions did come true as she coached the team to a 30-11-0 season.

In the frontcourt Susan MacDonald, Julie Leonard, Mary Zaim, and Laurie Quigley played offense while Chrissy Leonard and Kathy Vail played defense. The backcourt was very strong with MacDonald and Julie Leonard filling the middle back, Joanne Gendreau and Patti Josephson filled the right back, and Chrissy Leonard and Quigley in the power ally position. Coach Leonard hoped the offense would increase its speed while the defense gained better coordination between the blockers and the backcourt.

As far as team achievements this season was the first time in the women's volleyball history that the Chiefs were invited to participate in the ECAC Tournament. Personal achievements were among the best ever. For the second year in a row Susan MacDonald led the team in total attacks (946) and kills (419). Julie Leonard was second to MacDonald in the all attacks catagories and led the squad in blocks and digs (400). This was also the second time Gendreau led the team in assists(664). Julie Leonard, Gendreau, and MacDonald were all named to the N.E.C.C. All Tournament Team. The success of the Chiefs will be entrusted to the experience of all the veterans and next seasons newcomers.

A Dissapointing Season

The field hockey team was expecting to have a successful season, according Head Coach Barbara Gosselin. She was optimistic about the season based on the strong carry over of personnel from the 1986 season and the outstanding way the team finished the previous season. The 1987 season was the toughest in school history for the Chiefs. ULowell, which is classified as an NCAA Division Two program that participates in the Division One championship, faced ten Division One clubs.

The biggest question that faced Gosselin at the end of the 1986 season was whether or not she could recruit a goalie to replace fifth-year Kim Furlong. She landed freshman Stacey Marotta who looked very good in pre-season workouts. Marotta has good instincts and quick feet and has adjusted to college level play quickly. Even her early successes could not set the pace for the whole season. Her confidence grew each game as she got her chance to get her feet wet.

The main goals for the season were to play consistently throughout the entire season and to earn some respect as a One competitor. Her hopes to play better against the Division One schools than last season's .500 record were not met.

Despite a rather unimpressive season Donna Gendron led the team with 6 goals followed by Sharon Scott who contributed 4 goals. The team's leading assistors were Kathy Lyons and Theresa Viau. Stacey Marotta was the team's leading goaltender with 108 saves and a record of 6-5-0. Hopefully next season will prove to be more successfull than the 1987 season.

No Place to Call Home

The idea of never having a home game would strike fear into the hearts of many athletes, not to mention giving most coaches headaches just looking at their schedule. This is exactly what happened to the men's soccer team this season as they faced a 15 game season away from the friendly confines of Cushing Field.

Coach McGowan faced an entire season of away games with a team that had very little depth. He has been trying to rebuild his team with the hopes of surpassing previous years' records. Unfortunately this year did not turn out the way everyone had hoped. Coach McGowan relied on senior co-captain Paul Amato to be a consistent threat and give the squad it's necessary break. Amato along with seniors Mike Miller, co-captain Peter Sheridan, junior Ralph Thibodeau, and sophomore Steve Shea were to be the key hinges in the 1987 season.

These offensive players along with the underclassmen were required to look for better shot selections. This along with medium range passes had not been consistent throughout the pre and post season workouts. Defensively, the coach tried to get his players to play the situation more as opposed to forcing the issue. Coach McGowan had hoped that by controlling the pace the squad could control the game as well.

The depth of the team is what created critical problems. Set plays against the Chiefs caused many problems because there was an overall lack of size concerning the team.

Ending on a Positive Note

The University of Lowell's women's tennis team got off to a shaky start this season winning their first home game then suffering three losses in a row. The defeats made the team stronger and more determined to finish the season on a positive note. This is exactly what the team did; they rallied to win their next 6 out of 7 games. The season may not have been as spectacular as Coach Bill Arenson and the team had thought but, the team stands a very good chance of winning many of next seasons games if the newcomers are able to replace the graduating seniors thus strengthening the capabilities of the returning letter winners.

The team was strengthened by Stacy Therrien's amazing 10-1 singles record and captain Lori Vaughan's 7-5 record. As for the doubles team Donna Leonard and Lori Vaughan put fear into the hearts of their opponents by winning 7 out of 8 matches.

Running the Distance

The women's cross country team had one of the most successful seasons ever in 1987. Of the 7 member team, sophomore Christina Moore led the squad with a time of 18:52 at the Codfish Bowl Invitational Meet. Junior captains Kris Noble (5th place against Fitchburg) and Patricia Vail (3rd place against Fitchburg) contributed the experience and encouragement that the team needed in order to have such a successful season.

Of the 8 meets run, the cross country team placed highest at the M.A.I.A.W. State Cross Country Meet coming in 4th out of 12 teams with Moore placing 2nd. Since no one is being lost to graduation, the returning members have a greater chance of securing better finishes because of greater endurance and determination.

Roller Coster Season Ends in The Semifinals

It was a roller coaster season for head coach Bill Riley and the senior-laden Chiefs. Lowell finished the campaign 20-17-2 and 12-14-0 in Hockey East. The Chiefs became the only team in the four-year history of Hockey East to advance to the league semi-finals all four years with their two-game, total-goals win over Boston College.

The season started on a sour note as the Chiefs dropped their first four games for the worst start in the school's 21-year history, but an eight game winning streak boosted the Chiefs into the playoffs.

This senior class was part of the building group we brought along four years ago that went through the tough times thier first two years. "I can remember three or four years ago when we we brought this senior class in people asking me when we would make the NCAA's again (after making five straight years in Division Two). I told them,tongue-in- cheek, three years." Well, Coach Riley was right as the Chiefs made it to the NCAA tournament.

Among the bright spots this season was the play of the younger members of the team who got a lot of experience this year. All the time they put in on the ice should offset the mass exodus of the team's seniors.

Senior center Jon Morris became the first player in school history to lead the team in scoring all four years of his career. Morris established new school records for most games played (153) and powerplay goals (37).

Sophomore center Craig Charron finished second behind Morris in scoring with 22 goals and 18 assists for 40 points. His classmate Jeff Flaherty, also deserving of recognition, had the largest scoring increase this season but also ended it with 126 minute in the penalty box. In goal, senior Dave Delfino had the finest season of his career finishing the year with 3.95 goals against average, an 87.2 save percentage and a 14-14-1 record.

Among the seniors the Chiefs lose from this year's team are Morris, Dohaney, LoPilato, G. Valimont, C. Valimont, Drevitch, Foley and Delfino. The Chiefs will return will return three senior, five juniors, and ten sophomores for the 88-89 season.

Wrestling Team Breaks Even

The ULowell Wrestling team faced a tough schedule this past year with many difficult dual matches. Fourth-year head coach Brian Urquhart predicted that the dual match schedule would make it tough for the Chiefs to compile winning record. This prediction proved to be true with an ending season of 9-9.

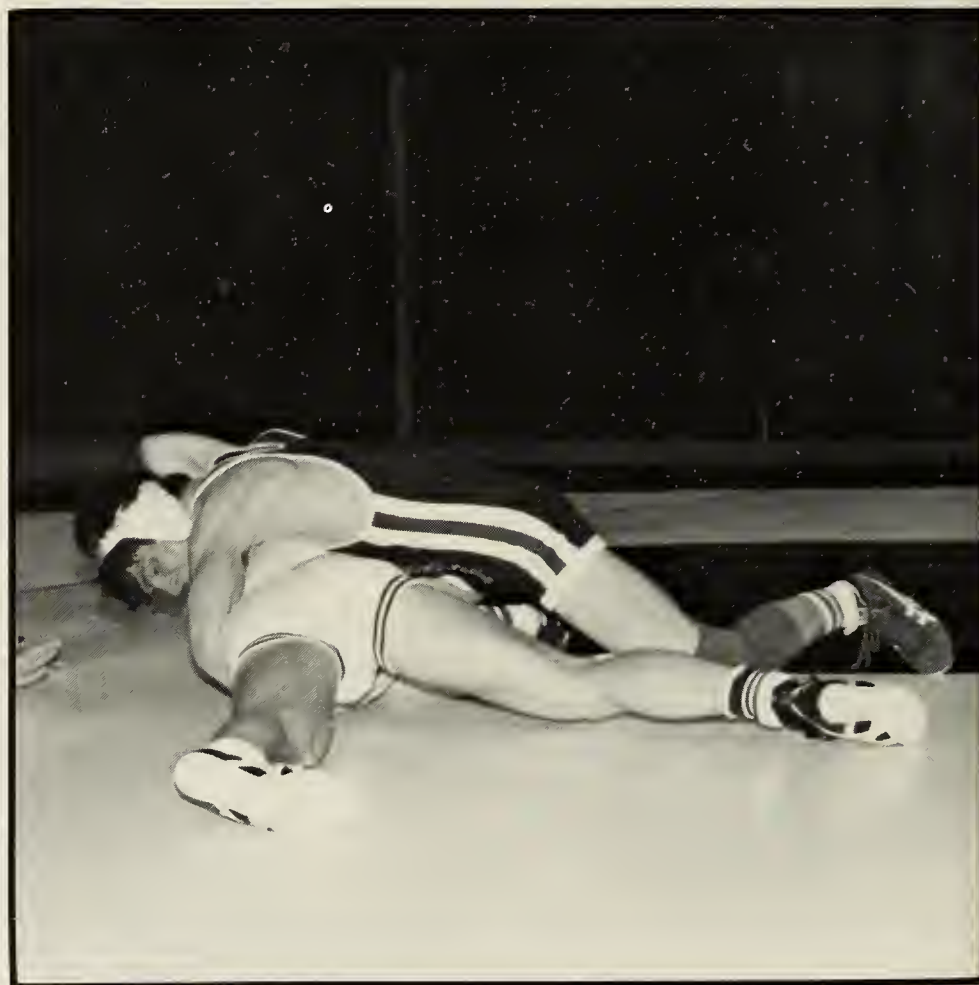

The Chiefs also participated in three tournaments; the New England Invitational (10th of 18), Northern New England Invitational (3rd of 10) and NCAA Division Two Regional Tournament (7th of 9).

Urquhart landed some of Massachusetts' finest scholastic talent for the 87-88 season. Freshman Tim Heitzman, a Mass State Champion, ended the season with a 78 percent winning record at 14-4. Freshman Bob Milinazzo, the only four-time state champ in Massachusetts history, started for the team at 126. He ended the season with a record of 22-9.

With an 87-88 roster of nine freshmen and nine sophomores, the next few years should prove to be exciting.

Division II NCAA Champions

It was a dream season that no one in their wildest imagination would have dared hope for back on October 15 when the University of Lowell MEN'S BASKETBALL team (27-7) took floor for the first day of practice. One hundred sixty-four days later, the "Impossible Dream" came true as the Chiefs defeated the University of Alaska-Anchorage, 75-72, to win the NCAA Men's Division Two National Championship.

Head Coach Don Doucette's team defied the odds in its first-ever trip to the NCAA tournament by winning five straight games to become the second New England region school to win the national title. "The goal was to make the national tournament. By that, everyone knew I meant I wanted us to qualify for the national tournament. That was our goal. And if we didn't achieve that, we would have felt underachieved," said coach Doucette.

It was a season filled with emotional highs. Lowell opened the season with three straight wins before it tasted defeat. However, defeat was not something the team experienced often this season. The last defeat that the Chiefs suffered was against Sacred Heart University, on February 15. After that, the Chiefs went on to a 10-game winning streak. That 10-game streak led the team to the Springfield Civic Center. In front of 7500 fans Gavin Cummings, Bobby Licare, and Leo Parent led their team past the semi-finals against Florida Southern College to the final showdown against Alaska-Anchorage. Lowell never trailed during the championship game. The Chiefs got a key steal from Parent and two Licare free throws with 11 seconds remaining to capture the team's first ever National Basketball Crown.

Not to be outdone by the multi-talented seniors, Sophomore Brian Parath was among the top five scorers. He, along with senior Pat King completed the list of top scorers. The only sad note to this spectacular season is the disappointment of losing Cummings, Licare, King, Billy Herenda, and Mike Scocca to graduation. When the Chiefs open their season on November 19 against Merrimack the returning lettermen and newcomers will carry on the tradition that will hopefully continue for many more seasons.

Lady Chief's on the Rise

Despite a seemingly disappointing 10-16 season record, the Lady Chiefs displayed their best show of basketball in recent years. This season's 10 wins gave the Lady Chiefs their second consecutive double-digit win season (11 wins during the 86-87 season) and their first back-to-back win season since 1982. The Lady Chiefs were led by sophomore swingperson Missy Montini, who led the team in eight categories, including scoring (301 points) and assists (106 assists). Fellow sophomore center Jennifer Demby was close behind Montini in scoring with 258 points, and she also pulled down a team-high 222 rebounds. In addition, she batted away 109 enemy shots and set a new school record for free throw percentage, converting 88.9 percent of her shots. Finishing up the top three in scoring was sophomore forward Mary-Kate O'Leary, who tallied 257 points. Montini's spectacular season did not go unnoticed. She was named to the All-NECC Second Team and was chosen as next year's captain. Freshman guard Rosalyn Worsley was voted the team's Rookie of the Year, and O'Leary was given the Best Team Player Award.

The Lady Chiefs' 10-16 record is very misleading. Several of their losses were last minute defeats, such as the two-point double overtime loss to Southern Connecticut and the one-point loss on the road to Bridgeport. Their defense is the major reason they are a team to be reckoned with, for ULowell finished first in team defense for the second consecutive year, allotting a meager 64.0 points per game to their opponents. The Lady Chiefs are due for a winning season, for their top three players (Montini, Demby, and O'Leary) are returning as juniors, and a strong line of freshman who will see much more playing time as sophomores.

L.U.S.T. the University's swim team began its eighth season under veteran Head Coach Dick Kenney. With no promising recruits on the horizon, Kenney needed a walk-on year and that is exactly what he got. Despite a weakness in the backstroke and the butterfly events, Kenney expected a strong effort in the freestyle and the breaststroke with the return of sophomores Tim Tiano (freestyle) and Rich Dooley (breaststroke). ULowell's backstroke tandem was crippled when the school's record holder Rich Daneillo left ULowell.

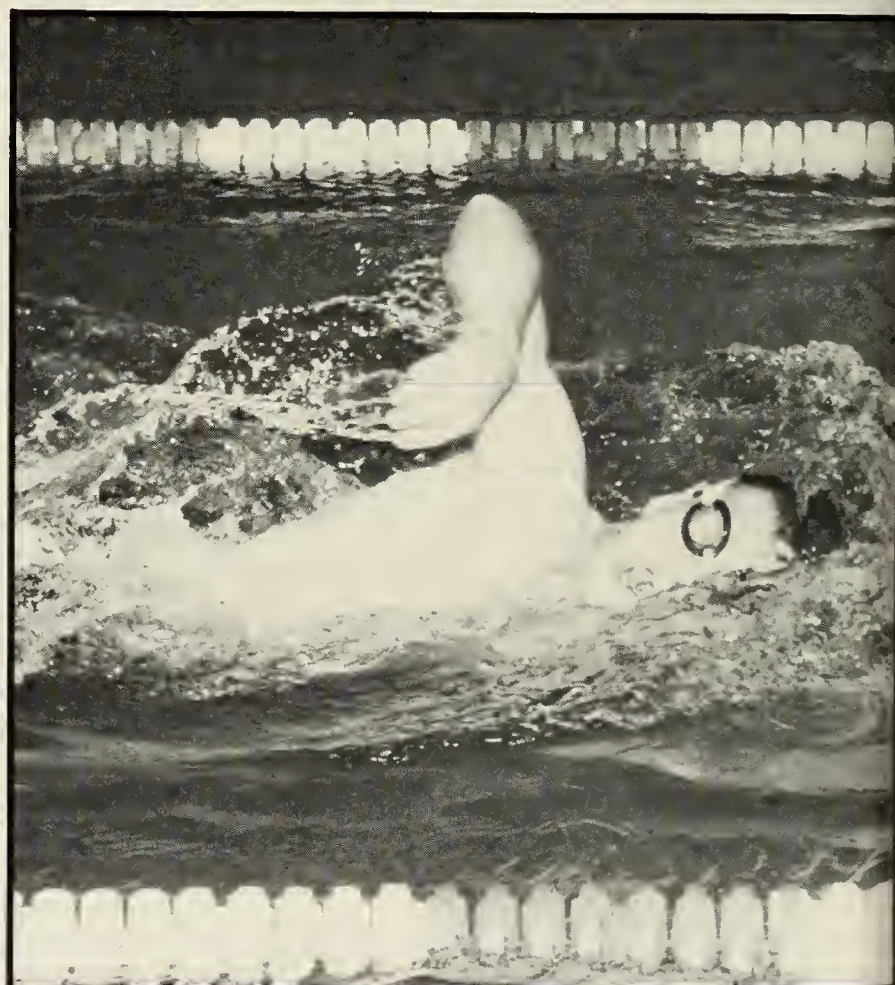

Tiano captured 10 first place finishes and easily led the team with 108 dual points, 44 points above the second place finisher, Junior Mike Boswell with 64. Bellette came in third with 56 points. In the championship meets, Tiano came up with 13.5 points. Boswell notched 6.5 and Freshman Mark Rebillard nabbed 5.25. Despite these performances, L.U.S.T. was annihilated in every dual meet save one: a whopping 121-47 victory over Keene State. Promising newcomers such as freshmen Paul Hession, Rebillard, and Mark Garneau. All three gave strong performances in their rookie seasons.

Tiano is returning for a third marvelous season, and with the increasing improvements of the freshmen, L.U.S.T. could be in for a pleasant surprise next year.

Smoking Season for Ski Teams

The 1987-88 race season proved to be a spectacular year for Lowell's men ski racers. The team upset eight NCSA Division II teams, skiing to their first championship since their inception in the early 1980's.

The men started out the season with a first place finish at Jiminey Peak, initiating their 4 for 5 record of victories in the season's slalom to the team, who second and third in these events. Nevertheless, their strength in the slalom gave them the edge necessary to claim the NCSA Division II Championship.

Although the team had its highs, it also ran into times that most agree they would rather forget. The men's team, having gone further than any predecessor team, was sent home from the Regionals at Waterville Valley for a wrong, forgivable, infraction of team rules.

The men's ski team ended the season on a downstring, but made stronger by the events of this season, their team spirit and drive will arm them for the year to come.

The younger women's ski team fared extremely well in their own right, though not as well as their male counterparts. An understaffed team, racing three women shorter than the other division teams, combined with injuries and illness, were stumbling blocks for the women, making a dual championship sweep out of reach for Lowell. The team placed fifth out of nine teams, after hopes to retain their third place standing as the season drew to a close, were extinguished by a disappointing and unusual last place finish at Killington, Vt.

Lowell women's strength in the slalom event and their better than average giant slalom skiing helped them to individually dominate the top 15 more often than any other team, and stay in third place for so long.

Lowell ski racing culminated when individuals from both the men's and women's teams qualified as top league racers for the annual Bay State Winter Games. Representing the men were Bob Rogan, John Murphy, co-captain Rick Slabinski, Phil Brindle and Mike Roussel.

Women's Team captain Deb Gray, Paula Moriarty, Heather McGillen and Lori McGovern qualified in the women's division, though McGillen was unable to attend the competition.

Lowell's skiing strength shined as John Murphy, Deb Gray, and Lori McGovern each brought home a medal in an alpine racing event, while facing competition from state wide top colliagiate racers in addition to those from their own division.

Hitting the Ball Better

For the fifth time in the last ten years the Chiefs headed for the NCAA regionals. They earned an automatic spot in the tournament by winning the New England Collegiate Conference title. Veteran head coach Jim Stone's club is 30-7 overall this season including an 11-1 mark in conference play and a 27-3 record against New England competition. The 30 wins is a school record for a single season. Lowell rode a 14 game winning streak into the tournament.

Since 1981 this has been the best opportunity for them to win it all. They beat two of the best teams in the tournament during the regular season. They were confident about their pitching and their hitting but it proved to be unsuccessful. Leading the chiefs attack was the outfielder John Spencer who is hitting .429. He is followed by junior catcher Joe Luis, and team captain Mark Grams.

On the mound Freshman lefthander Joe Grygiel who was named the NECC's Rookie of the Year, has a 6-0 mark with a 4.44 era and leads the staff with 49 strikeouts.

Despite the great talent and effort the Chiefs ended the 1988 season short of their goals, however, the 1989 season shows greater promise.

A Season of Surprises

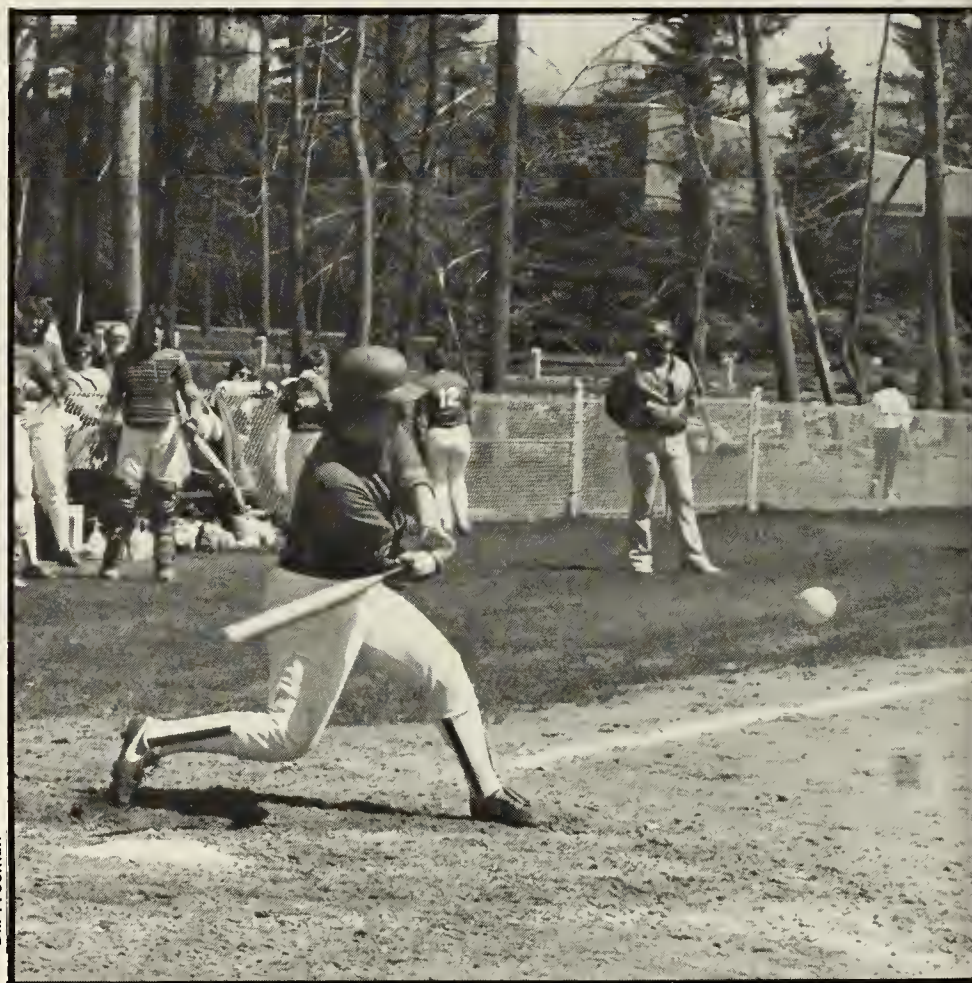

Post-season play has become habit forming for the University of Lowell's Softball team. For the third consecutive year the Chiefs have been selected to play in the post-season tournament. The Chiefs finished third in the ECAC New England/Upstate New York tournament.

The 1988 season was a season full of surprises and frustrations for the team and coach Jim DeFazio. The season began with an incredible 11 game winning streak only to be followed by the longest losing streak since 1985 (5 games). Despite the frustrations there were some pleasant surprises. Chris Dunham (pitcher) kept improving all season and was rewarded for all her efforts by going to the all-star game.

Even though the Chiefs finished their season with an overall record of 18 wins and 12 losses, the Chiefs were critical of their performances. The team realizes that their defense and pitching was confident they failed to get the runs needed to win. Next season the team hopes to improve offensively. There will be good players returning and new members to add to the depth of the team.

Hall Life

When someone goes to college, he or she must make many major decisions. One of these includes deciding where to live. There are basically three choices; at home, on campus or off campus. Many students do all three before they graduate.

Residence Hall Life is both a challenge and an adventure. Learning to live with your roommate is only one aspect of this challenge/adventure. A computer in the Residence Life office randomly matches students up and selects a building in which they will live. Adjusting and bending is essential in becoming compatible with your roommate. Many do not get along and change rooms. Others form a lasting friendship.

By living on-campus, you always seem to become informed about everything going on around the campus; where the types of social events are happening etc. Many of the halls have inter-dormitory events such as semi-formals, snowball fights, pseudo- game shows, olympics and sporting events.

Most residence hall students form friendships that cannot be replicated. Friends to lean on, to party with, to study with and to laugh with.

Residence Hall life also has its drawbacks. Annoying pay phones that no one ever seems to answer, sensor cards to lose, parking hassels, fire drills, and a myriad of roles and regulations such as Quiet Hours, and Guest Policies.

There always seems to be a line to use the showers and more times than not, when you finally get your turn, there is no more hot water! Students also have no control over room temperature control. It always seems to be either too cold or too hot, there never seems to be a happy medium.

All in all, the Residence Halls have more advantages than disadvantages. They are a place to party, to study, to make friends and to be involved. They are one of the places where the fun starts at ULowell.

A NIGHT TO LITE HOME ABOUT

Deepavali, the Indian festival of lights, drew an audience of 500 on November 7th to Cumnock Hall; it was organized by the Indian Students' Association of the University of Lowell. Deepavali is the biggest event to be held by an individual club at the university.

The program started with the lighting of the deepa (traditional oil lamp) by the ISA Arts & Entertainment committee chairman Meenu Nayar. Her colleagues lit other deepas, designed to illuminate the "Darkness of the New Moon" signifying that knowledge will prevail over ignorance. Deepavali also denotes the last day of the Indian lunar calendar.

Stage performances were preceded by a welcoming address from ISA president Ravi Deecee, followed by a brief introduction from Dr. P. Harihar. Events began with a religious dance, Bharatanatym, by twin sisters Ajita and Anuja Jacob.

Several Indian students at ULowell performed on musical instruments, and Anita Sebastian and Reshma Patil performed folk dances in ceremonial dress.

The stage program ended by singing of the Indian and the American National Anthems. Guests then sampled Indian Cuisine: alu tikki, samosa, gulab jamun, manjo juice etc.

McGauvran Dedication

On Wednesday, November 4, 1987 the South Campus Student Union Building was officially renamed and dedicated, in the honor of Dr. Mary E. McGauvran Student Center.

The event was celebrated by students, faculty, and staff as a crowd gathered before the building. Tributes to Dr. McGauvran were given by past student leaders Patricia Sullivan Talty, Martin Grace, Jeff Layne, and Steven Stanganelli, current Student Government President Carol Cahalane, and University President Dr. William Hogan. These people were selected to represent the thousands who have had the privilege of working with Dr. McGauvran in her years of service to the university.

The ceremony was as the woman is, simple yet elegant. A balloon launching capped the dedication ceremony which was followed by a reception inside.

Dr. McGauvran is a graduate of Lowell State College with a B.S.Ed. in Elementary Education, and holds both a M.Ed. and Ed.D in Guidance-Measurement and Evaluation from Boston University. She has worked at the University of Lowell as both a faculty member and an administrator. Recently retiring from her position as Vice President of Student Affairs, Dr. McGauvran remains as a professor in the Graduate program of Education.

The Adult Drop In Center

THE ADULT LEARNER DROP IN CENTER
The Adult Learner Drop In Center was established in response to the University's growing number of non-traditional students. A "non-traditional" student or adult learner is any person who delayed entering college immediately after high school. The goal of the center is to address the demanding roles adults face as they pursue their educational goals.

To meet this goal the center is staffed by trained peer counselors who provide support, information and advice to other adult learners. It also offers many workshops and regularly sponsors an open house to orient interested students.

In the supportive environment of the center adult learners gather between classes to socialize, for quiet time or to receive counseling for a special issue. All students are welcome and encouraged to drop in.

The center is located in room 335 of the Mary McGauvran Student Center on South Campus.

One more photo and you die

Had to put in one photo of somebody working... even if it has nothing to do with the yearbook.

The great Willie Burks and friend (what is his name anyway !!! ugh)

"Yearbook Late Again??"

"But of Course!!!"

This message is not meant to offend just anyone, just those self-righteous enough to demand something they themselves can help to create; yet through their own self-lacking see it fit to just demand. The yearbook is a lot of work - But it is exciting and rewarding. Everyone likes to open up their old yearbooks and remember the good times they had - so why doesn't anyone want to work on it?, Apathy U! The yearbook lasts forever. It leaves a great feeling of accomplishment when you are able to look back years from now and say "I took that photo," or "I wrote that story."

1988 Sojourn late, of course! Three or four people cannot produce such a large book by themselves without setbacks. I would like to thank everybody on my staff for their dedication throughout their tough times. Special thanks are in line for those few that were always there for me; Paula Ming, Heather Zeidman, Pete Swiniarski, Jim Lavallee. Thanks are also in line for those that helped me deal with the administrative problems that arouse during the semester; Carole Cahallan, and Tom Kershaw.

In the years down the road I will look back at the Sojourn, and remember all the great people and all the good times we shared. Most of all I'll remember the rewards and challenges of being the Editor-in-Chief of Sojourn and how much it helped me to grow and mature.

1988 Sojourn

A THOUGHT: The yearbook is a yearly publication that represents a part of history extending over the previous "4" years while the graduating seniors, for which this book was created, were students at the University of Lowell.

Thank You Norm Benrimo & John Neister For All Your Help.
